Dear Marcy

As you know, as we replace vehicles, part of the process that puts them in the fleet is the addition of a Fuel Miser unit. I thought you'd like an update on how our fleet has been doing since we got Fuel Miser units on the majority of our fleet vehicles.

I am pleased to say that the mileage on vehicles with the unit is 16% better than the identical vehicle without the Fuel Miser. Who'd of thought that such a small investment could pay such large dividends for so long. Our experience is that the unit saves enough on fuel to pay for itself in the first three weeks of operation. After that, the rest of the savings drop right to the bottom line.

Thank you again for sharing this great product.

Yours,

Stephen M. Qua, II
